From the Director

The spring of 2020, we are all forgotten the Mississippi Delta: a place of great beauty, one that has been highly affected by the pandemic. The Center for Historic Preservation has continued to operate, but we have had to adapt to the new normal.

The Center for Historic Preservation is actively involved in the history of Amis Farm in Hawkins County after a recent visit last fall. The center is committed to preserving historical sites and landscapes, and the farm is a perfect example of this. The center has been working on a project to introduce the new farms certified so far this year. If you need a boost, check out our latest newsletter on our Facebook page.

On the education front, you can access a variety of online resources. The center has a lot of great online resources that you can access from your home. Our online resources page (http://www.histpres.mtsu.edu/resources) provides a wealth of material that can be used as a preliminary step in exploring Tennessee's history, including the Civil War and the American Revolution.
